I schedule 30 minutes before this meeting for us to talk about how best to answer these questions and determine leads for parts of the briefing. Suzanne has also invited Doug. No idea yet if he will attend but I think we should be prepared for his participating just in case. I've got a second set of colored figures if we need them.

>> Patrick, I'm attaching the briefing paper and figures for our discussion on Monday on the proposed Dewey Burdock in-situ uranium mine site in South Dakota. I also put a hard copy of these documents under your door. I apologize I wasn't able to get the documents to you earlier - there is a lot of information included, due in part to a long history at a complicated and controversial site. If you have the chance to look over the information prior to our meeting please let us know any specific areas you'd like to focus on during the briefing. I want to make sure we get you what you need for your upcoming call.
